

Seneca College Toronto Canada

Canada's Education System

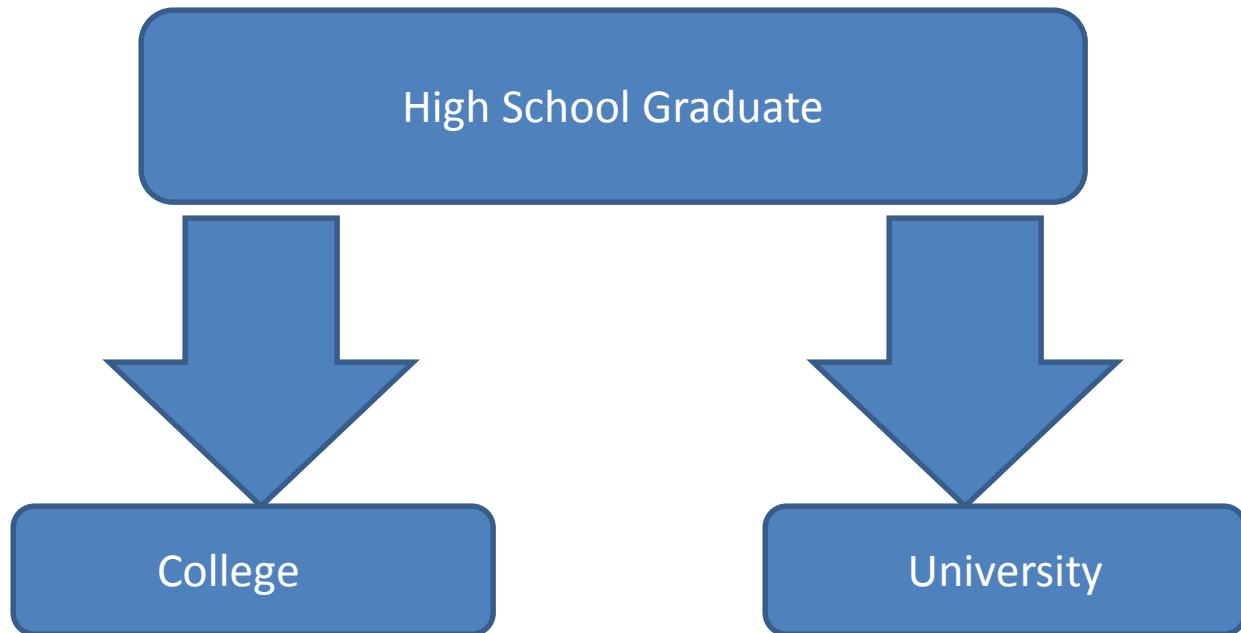

- Canadian Education System is at high academic level and recognized world-wide.
- It is overseen by provincial governments.
- Tuition fees are the lowest compared to other English-speaking countries.
- Flexible learning options as well as co-op education available to students.
- Most of the students pursue higher education. Canadians are world's most educated nation.

Ontario

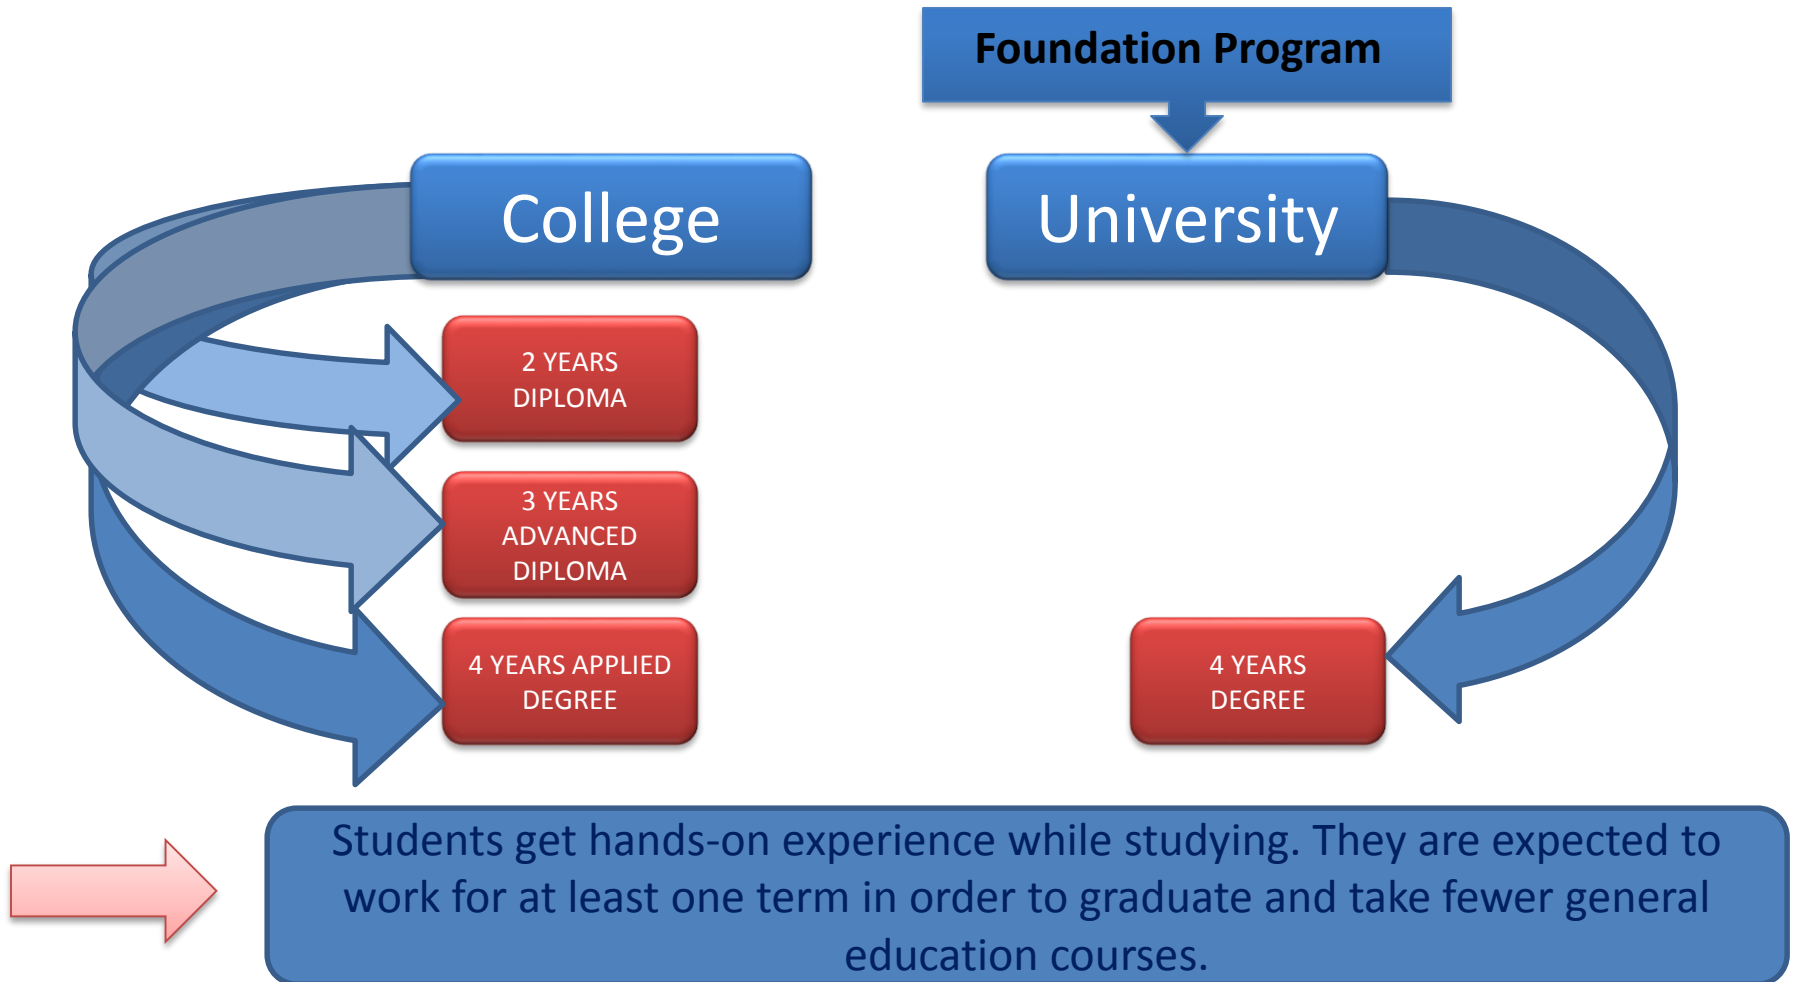

- After High School graduation, students in Ontario have a choice. They can go to either College or a University. Some may require academic or ESL upgrading.

Colleges vs. Universities in Ontario

If students choose to go to a College, they can study for 2 years, 3 years or 4 years.

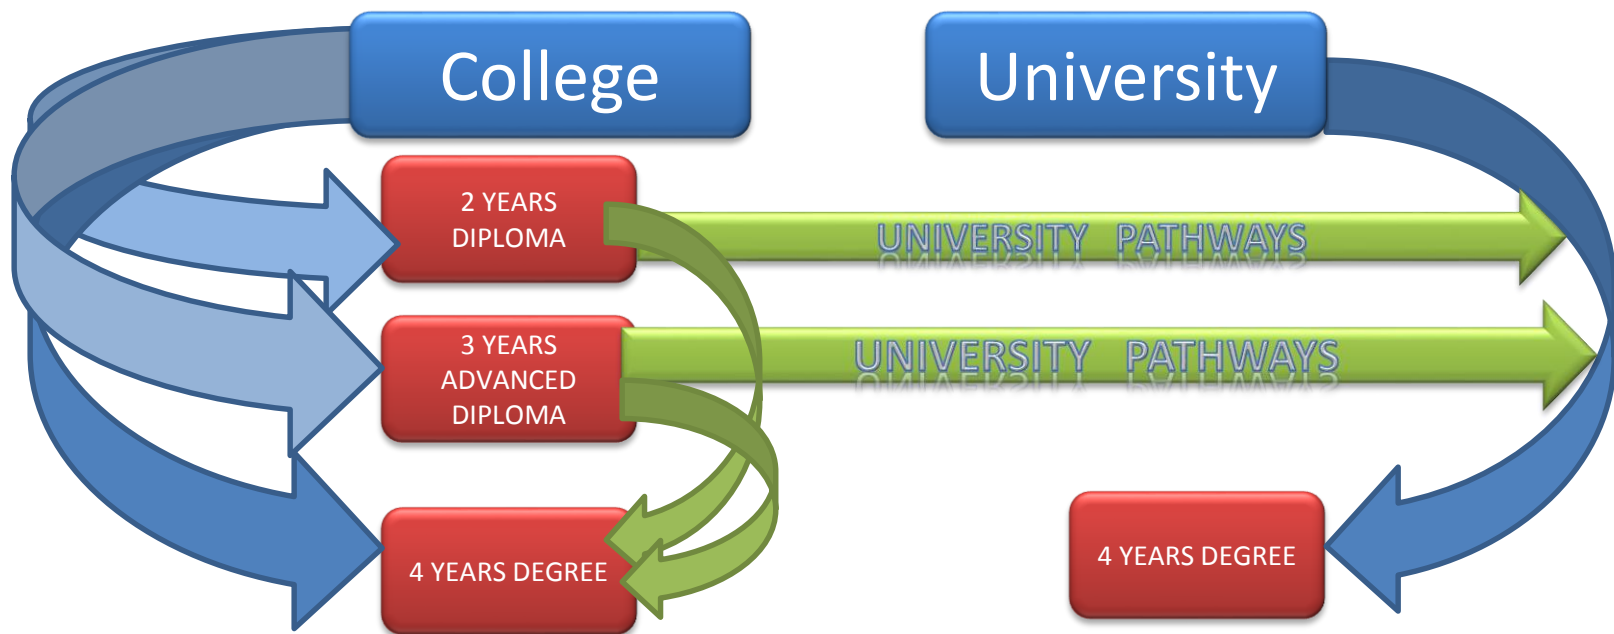

If students choose to go to a University, they must study for 4 years.

Colleges vs. Universities in Ontario

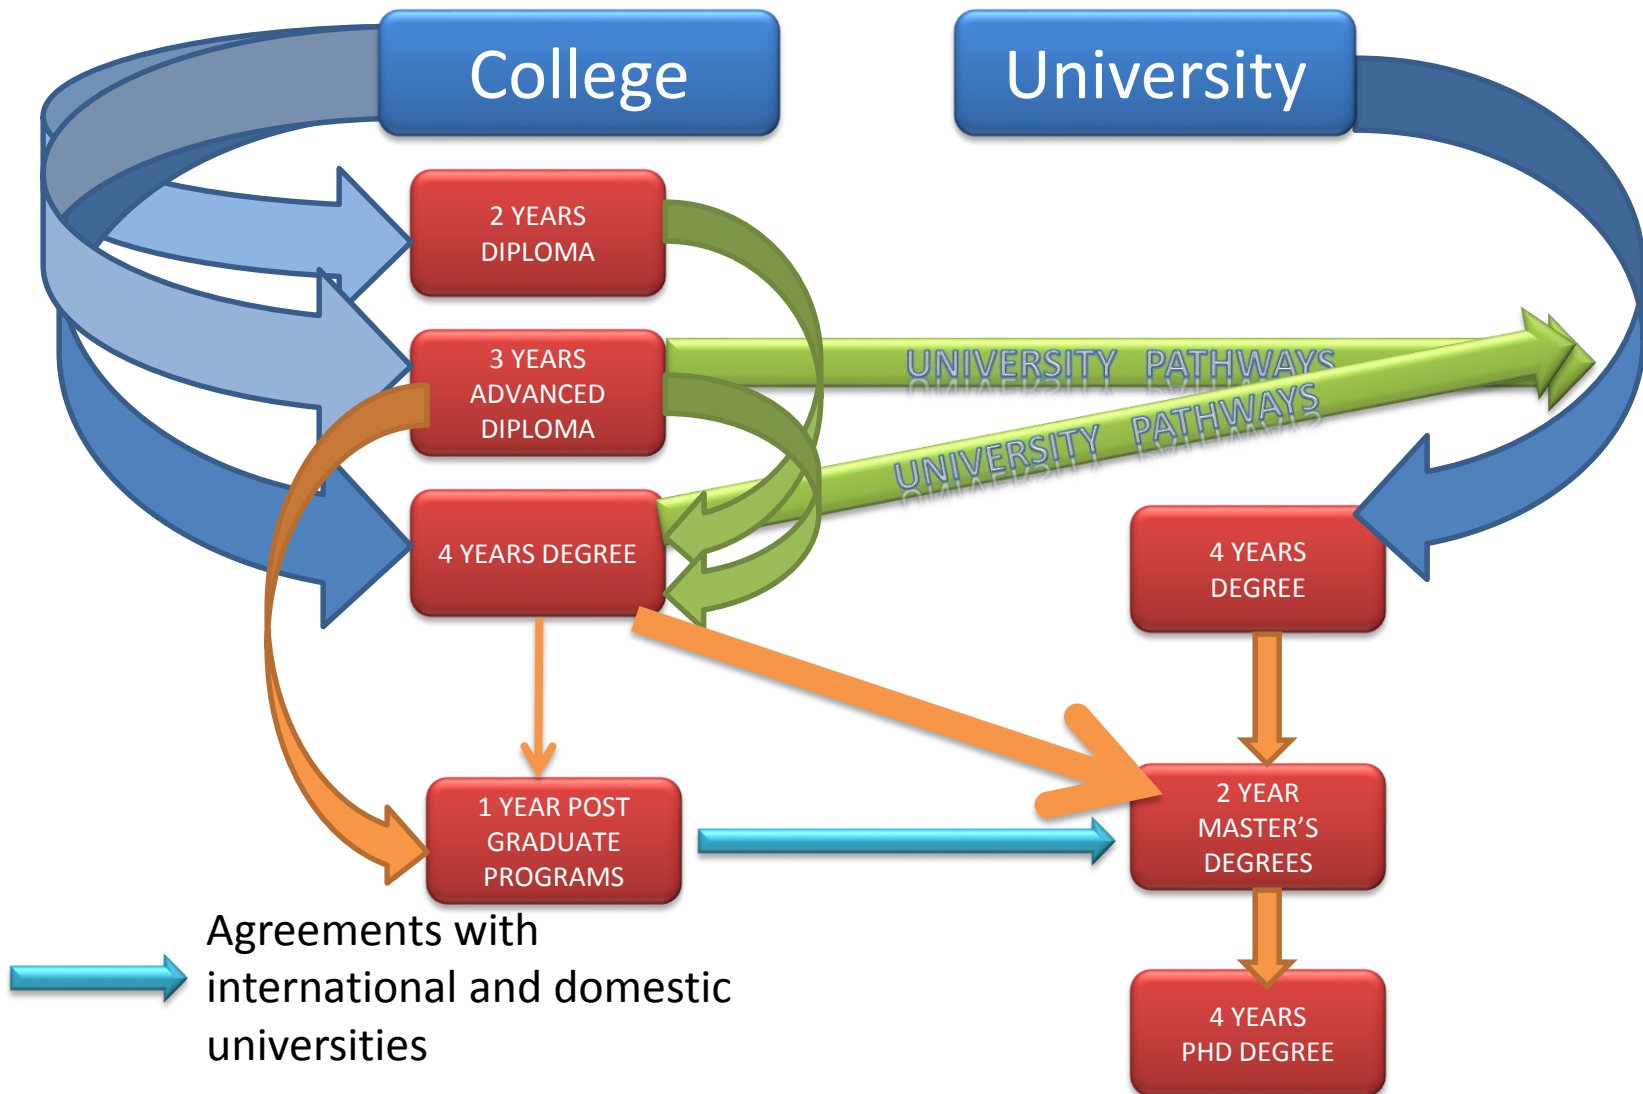

Colleges offer over 100 programs at the diploma and advanced diploma level. Students are job ready upon completion of these programs.

However, if students wish to continue their studies, they can do so by completing their degree at their college (if offered) or by transferring to a university.

Students can transfer to universities that have agreements with colleges. How many credits students transfer will depend on the program, students' grades and the type of the agreement. These agreements are referred to as university pathways or university transfer programs.

Colleges vs. Universities in Ontario

Why do students choose college?

- Easy transition into learning
- Smaller class sizes
- Hands-on experience
- Wider choice of programs
- Work experience opportunities
- Support system around the campus
- Multiple pathways with universities
